Module

1. A Module is a set of logical group containing one or multiple test suites.

2. Module can be handy in selecting testcases for a regression. You get the option to select all the testcases in a module or based on the test suites available.

3. Adding a Module needs module name and that name can be used in adding test suites.

Example

